EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

2023 in one page

In 2023, Hands With Heart opened new doors. The Foundation continued its work in Bali, Costa Rica, Argentina and adaptive surfing, while beginning its first direct field engagement in Ukraine. At the same time, HwH became more visible in international academic and professional spaces, gave public talks on disability and collective trauma in Bali, and explored new collaborations and new geographies with care.

The year was defined by thresholds: entering Ukraine after an initial situation-analysis visit, signing an institutional agreement in Chaco, strengthening adaptive surfing support in Hawaii and California, sharing the Foundation's work at international conferences, and deciding responsibly not to develop a project in Dharamsala when the specific need for HwH's model was not sufficiently clear.

With only €41,630.56 of official income recorded in the Spanish accounts, HwH delivered 1,688 clinical sessions to 1,012 beneficiaries and generated an estimated €244,230 in direct clinical and capacity-building value. This means that for every €1 of official income, approximately €5.87 of direct value was delivered.

2023 opened many doors. 2024 would test our capacity to walk through them. 2025 would begin strengthening the foundations needed to keep going.

Key milestones

Milestone	Why it mattered
First direct Ukraine engagement	A March assessment was followed by four 7-day clinical field missions.
Chaco agreement in Argentina	An institutional pathway opened for free healthcare support in remote communities.

Milestone	Why it mattered
Adaptive surfing growth	527 sessions were delivered across Hawaii and California.
International academic visibility	HwH was present in conferences in the USA, Spain, Portugal and Mexico.
Disability awareness in Bali	Talks at Green School and The Bridge helped make local disability realities visible.
Responsible exploration in Dharamsala	HwH assessed local needs and chose not to expand where its model was not clearly needed.

LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Opening doors, carefully

Dear friends,

When I look back at 2023, I see a year of doors opening. Some opened into familiar places where we had already built relationships over time: Bali, Costa Rica, Argentina and adaptive surfing. Others opened into new realities that required humility, patience and courage.

Ukraine was one of those doors. Before providing clinical care, we first travelled to understand the situation, listen, build local connections and assess where Hands With Heart could be useful. That March visit was not a mission measured in sessions. It was a mission measured in responsibility. Later in the year, we returned for four clinical field missions.

2023 also brought new institutional and educational opportunities. We shared our work at international conferences, met colleagues from different countries, and saw growing interest in the humanitarian role that osteopathic care can play when it is offered freely, respectfully and in collaboration with local communities.

In Argentina, we signed an agreement in Chaco with public institutions committed to reaching people with disabilities in remote areas. In Bali, we gave talks to students and the community about disability, socioeconomic exclusion and collective trauma. In adaptive surfing, we continued supporting people with disabilities through the ocean, movement and inclusion.

We also learned that opening a door does not always mean walking through it. In Dharamsala, India, we explored possible collaboration with local centres. After assessment, we decided not to develop a permanent project there. Responsible humanitarian work is not about expanding everywhere. It is about serving where the need is clear, where our model adds value, and where we can make a commitment with integrity.

In 2023, Hands With Heart reached 1,012 people through 1,688 clinical sessions. We did this with very limited official income, no salaried staff, and a structure still carried by volunteers, partners and a small number of deeply committed people. This is something to be proud of. It is also a warning: impact cannot depend forever on scarcity and personal sacrifice alone.

With gratitude,
Dr. Jorge Aranda Beltrán
Founder and President, Hands With Heart Foundation

THE PROBLEM

Too many people with disabilities remain unseen

In many of the places where Hands With Heart works, disability is not only a medical reality. It is also a social, cultural, emotional and economic reality. Children and adults with disabilities may live far from specialist care, lack access to regular treatment, or grow up in environments where stigma and misunderstanding shape their daily lives.

Hands With Heart exists to respond to that gap: not by replacing local communities, but by walking alongside them, offering free care, sharing knowledge and making invisible realities visible.

Mission, vision and values

Element	Statement
Mission	To provide free, high-quality, multidisciplinary healthcare to children and adults with disabilities and vulnerable communities with little or no access to care.
Vision	A world where people with disabilities are seen, valued and supported with dignity, and where local communities have stronger tools to care for them over time.
Values	Dignity, humility, cultural respect, clinical excellence, collaboration, transparency and long-term responsibility.

Operating principles

Principle	Meaning in practice
Care is free for beneficiaries	Financial barriers should not prevent people with disabilities from receiving care.
Repeated care, not one-off charity	Whenever possible, HwH returns to the same communities and works toward continuity.
Dignity first, then care	Clinical work begins with how people are seen, approached and respected.
Empowering communities from within	Local caregivers, therapists and communities must gain knowledge, not dependency.
Honest impact. Clearly reported.	Impact should be communicated transparently, without exaggerating what was achieved.
Making invisible realities visible	Awareness, storytelling and education are part of changing how disability is understood.

IMPACT DATA

Beneficiaries and sessions are not the same thing

Hands With Heart reports both unique beneficiaries and clinical sessions because they describe different realities. A beneficiary is a person reached. A session is a treatment, intervention or clinical support encounter. One beneficiary may receive more than one session during a mission, especially in contexts of complex disability, trauma, pain or repeated clinical need.

Programme / country	Sessions	Beneficiaries	Team / volunteers	Notes
Bali	419	158	20 total team	February and August missions
Costa Rica	386	318	26 total team	April and November missions; local capacity-building
Argentina / Chaco	176	176	4 total team	July mission linked to institutional pathway
Adaptive Surfing	527	240	8 team leaders	Hawaii and California events
Ukraine direct field missions	180	120	Jorge as clinical lead	March assessment plus four 7-day clinical missions
REpower	0	0	-	No REpower programme in 2023
Total	1,688	1,012	61	13 missions / activities

Capacity-building record

Internal records identify 53 local or supervised participants connected to training, workshop or supervision contexts during 2023. For public valuation, HwH uses a conservative figure of 40 capacity-building participants. This avoids overstating impact and keeps the value framework aligned with the principle: Honest impact. Clearly reported.

VALUE METHODOLOGY

How direct value was calculated

The direct value framework estimates the professional value of care and training delivered free of charge. It does not represent cash income, market revenue, audited social return, or money received by the Foundation. It is a conservative way to show the value of services that beneficiaries did not have to pay for.

Context	Rate	Rationale	Use
Bali standard clinical care	€100/session	Specialised disability care in a resource-limited setting.	329 sessions

Context	Rate	Rationale	Use
Bali home visits / outreach	€125/session	Higher complexity and travel/logistical burden.	90 sessions
Costa Rica accessible settings	€75/session	Conservative rate for accessible clinical settings.	250 sessions
Bribri-Talamanca / remote Costa Rica	€155/session	Remote context with greater access barriers and complexity.	136 sessions
Argentina / Chaco	€125/session	Remote and underserved disability-care context.	176 sessions
Adaptive surfing	€150/session	Specialised care linked to disability, movement and ocean-based inclusion.	527 sessions
Ukraine children/civilians	€150/session	Clinical care in a war-affected context.	36 sessions
Ukraine soldiers / war-related cases	€200/session	Higher clinical and emotional complexity, trauma and war-related needs.	144 sessions
Capacity-building	40 x 25 hours x €25/hour	Conservative estimate of training and supervised learning value.	€25,000

PROGRAMME RESULTS

Bali: repeated care and disability awareness

Bali remained one of the Foundation's core long-term communities in 2023. HwH returned twice, in February and August, continuing the pattern of repeated care rather than isolated intervention.

Bali 2023	Sessions	Beneficiaries	Volunteers	Team leaders	Total team
February	166	91	6	2 - Jorge & Corey	8
August	253	67	10	2 - Jorge & Francesco	12
Total	419	158	16	4	20

In addition to clinical care, 2023 included an important awareness dimension in Bali. Jorge Aranda gave talks at Green School and at The Bridge, addressing the reality of people with disabilities on the island, their socioeconomic context, and the collective trauma linked to disability in Bali and in other countries where HwH works.

Bali valuation	Sessions	Rate	Value
Standard sessions	329	€100	€32,900
Home visits / outreach	90	€125	€11,250

Bali valuation	Sessions	Rate	Value
Total Bali value	419	-	€44,150

PROGRAMME RESULTS

Costa Rica: repeated missions and local learning

In Costa Rica, Hands With Heart worked in April and November, combining clinical sessions with local involvement and capacity-building. The year included both accessible clinical settings and more complex remote-context care linked to Bribri-Talamanca realities.

Costa Rica 2023	Sessions	Beneficiaries	Volunteers	Team leaders	Local people	Capacity-building
April	189	136	8	2 - Jorge & Leandro	10	6
November	197	182	14	2 - Jorge & Leandro	12	8
Total	386	318	22	4	22	14

Costa Rica continued to demonstrate the importance of combining care with local learning. While the direct value calculation separates clinical sessions from capacity-building, both are part of the same long-term mission: to leave more knowledge and confidence in the communities HwH serves.

Costa Rica valuation	Sessions	Rate	Value
Accessible clinical settings	250	€75	€18,750
Bribri-Talamanca / remote context	136	€155	€21,080
Total Costa Rica value	386	-	€39,830

PROGRAMME RESULTS

Argentina / Chaco: institutional pathway for remote care

In July 2023, Hands With Heart delivered a mission in Argentina, reaching 176 beneficiaries through 176 sessions. The mission was connected to a wider institutional pathway in the province of Chaco.

A key 2023 milestone was the signing of an agreement with the Vice-Government, the Ministry of Health, the Ministry of Environment and Territorial Development, and IPRODICH to develop the Foundation's project providing free healthcare assistance to children and people with disabilities in the province of Chaco.

Argentina 2023	Sessions	Beneficiaries	Volunteers	Team leader
July / Chaco	176	176	3	Jorge
Total	176	176	3	1

Argentina valuation	Sessions	Rate	Value
Chaco clinical sessions	176	€125	€22,000

Ukraine: first direct field engagement

Ukraine became one of the most significant new doors of 2023. In March, Hands With Heart carried out a 7-day situation-analysis visit to understand the context, develop relationships and assess where the Foundation could help. This visit was not included in clinical session totals because its purpose was assessment and connection-building.

Four clinical field missions followed in May, July, October and December. There was no REpower programme in 2023. The work should therefore be understood as direct Ukraine field engagement.

Ukraine 2023	Sessions	Beneficiaries	Team leader	Local	Notes
March	-	-	Jorge	0	7-day situation analysis and connections
May	36	23	1	0	7-day clinical mission
July	48	31	1	0	7-day clinical mission
October	57	27	1	0	7-day clinical mission
December	39	39	1	0	7-day clinical mission
Total clinical	180	120	4 missions	0	No REpower in 2023

Ukraine valuation	Sessions	Rate	Value
Soldier / war-related sessions - 80%	144	€200	€28,800
Children / civilian disability sessions - 20%	36	€150	€5,400
Total Ukraine value	180	-	€34,200

PROGRAMME RESULTS

Adaptive surfing: disability inclusion through the ocean

Adaptive surfing continued to be an important expression of Hands With Heart's broader understanding of disability care. In 2023, HwH supported events in Hawaii and California, combining clinical presence, adapted movement, inclusion, and supervision of local participants in California.

Adaptive Surfing 2023	Sessions	Beneficiaries	Team leaders	Local/supervised team
Hawaii - May	106	61	4	0
California - September	112	57	2	13
California - November	309	122	2	5
Total	527	240	8	18

The 18 local participants in California received workshop input and supervision during sessions. This has been included in the capacity-building record while avoiding double-counting in the direct clinical value.

Adaptive surfing valuation	Sessions	Rate	Value
Adaptive surfing support sessions	527	€150	€79,050

Education, awareness and international visibility

2023 was also a year of dissemination. HwH used international conferences and educational spaces to share its humanitarian work, recruit volunteers and develop relationships with universities and academic institutions.

Initiative	Date/location	Strategic relevance
American Academy of Osteopathy Annual Convocation	Colorado Springs, USA - March 15-19	Humanitarian visibility, volunteer recruitment and academic relationship-building.
Registro de Osteópatas de España Congress	Palma de Mallorca, Spain - April 14-16	National and international professional visibility.
III Congresso Internacional Osteopatía	Lisbon, Portugal - May 19-20	Presentation of HwH work and clinical case of a child with tetraparesis and hypotonia.
Escuela Nacional Mexicana de Medicina Osteopática	Riviera Maya, Mexico - Nov 22-25	Visibility in Latin America and osteopathic education.
Hands With Heart Academy course	Monastier di Treviso, Italy - Feb 25-26	Course on osteopathic medicine in autism spectrum disorders; 16 students.

Initiative	Date/location	Strategic relevance
Veggy Japan article	Japan - 2023	Article explaining osteopathy, making HwH visible and inviting Japanese osteopaths to Bali.

BEYOND CLINICAL SESSIONS

Innovation, collaboration and responsible exploration

Ayúdame3D and Dimitri

In 2023, Jorge Aranda and Guillermo, founder of Ayúdame3D, began working together to explore a prototype device that could support Dimitri's mobility and functionality. Jorge and Guillermo had met at the Cadena 100 awards in December 2022, where Jorge received recognition for his work with Dimitri in Romania after Dimitri's mother nominated him.

Dharamsala, India: a responsible decision

Hands With Heart also carried out an exploratory visit to Dharamsala, India, to understand local disability needs and possible collaboration with centres supporting people with special needs. The experience offered valuable cultural learning around Tibetan culture, tradition and Buddhism.

After assessment, HwH decided not to proceed with developing a project there because the specific need for children with disabilities in that region did not clearly require the Foundation's model. This decision is part of responsible humanitarian practice: not every opportunity should become a programme.

Responsible growth means knowing where to go - and also knowing where not to go.

DIRECT VALUE

Estimated direct value generated in 2023

Using the conservative methodology described earlier, Hands With Heart generated an estimated €244,230 in direct clinical and capacity-building value in 2023. This includes only the areas where a clear value estimate can be assigned.

Area	Sessions / participants	Method	Estimated value
Bali	419 sessions	329 standard + 90 home/outreach sessions	€44,150
Costa Rica	386 sessions	250 accessible + 136 remote-context sessions	€39,830

Area	Sessions / participants	Method	Estimated value
Argentina / Chaco	176 sessions	€125/session	€22,000
Adaptive Surfing	527 sessions	€150/session	€79,050
Ukraine direct field missions	180 sessions	80% war-related at €200; 20% children/civilians at €150	€34,200
Capacity-building	40 participants	25 hours x €25/hour	€25,000
Total	1,688 sessions + training	Conservative direct value framework	€244,230

The €244,230 figure does not mean Hands With Heart received €244,230. It means beneficiaries and local communities received care, training and support with an estimated professional value of €244,230 without having to pay for it.

FINANCIAL TRANSPARENCY

Official financial picture in 2023

The 2023 Spanish financial documents for Hands With Care / Hands With Heart record €41,630.56 in official income, mainly through donations, collaborations and activity-related support. Official expenses amounted to €39,275.99, producing a modest positive annual result of €2,354.57.

Financial item	2023 amount / status
Official income recorded in Spain	€41,630.56
External services	€38,583.07
Goods / materials linked to activity	€692.92
Total official expenses	€39,275.99
Annual result / surplus	€2,354.57
Treasury / cash at year-end	€5,347.04
Salaried staff	0
Loans / financial debt	None recorded
Real-estate assets / significant fixed assets	None recorded

In 2023, for every €1 of official income recorded in Spain, HwH delivered approximately €5.87 of direct clinical and capacity-building value.

This ratio reflects the leverage created by volunteer clinical work, donated professional expertise, low payroll burden and careful use of limited resources. It should not be interpreted as financial profit or cash growth. It is a value-delivered indicator.

The financial picture shows a small, lean organisation delivering a level of field activity far beyond its formal income base. This is a strength because it shows commitment and efficiency. It is also a vulnerability because impact of this scale should not depend indefinitely on scarcity, volunteer sacrifice and a small number of people carrying too much responsibility.

LEARNING

What 2023 taught us

2023 taught Hands With Heart that opening doors is only the beginning. The deeper responsibility is knowing which doors to walk through, which communities to serve, and which commitments the Foundation is truly prepared to sustain.

What went well

- HwH reached more than 1,000 beneficiaries and delivered 1,688 clinical sessions across multiple contexts.
- The Foundation began direct Ukraine field engagement after an initial situation-analysis visit.
- The Chaco agreement created an institutional pathway for care in remote areas of Argentina.
- Adaptive surfing activity grew strongly in Hawaii and California.
- International academic visibility increased through conferences in the USA, Spain, Portugal and Mexico.
- Disability awareness was strengthened in Bali through talks at Green School and The Bridge.
- Hands With Heart Academy continued developing specialised professional education.
- The Ayúdame3D collaboration opened an innovation pathway connected to Dimitri.
- The Dharamsala exploration showed maturity: HwH assessed, listened and chose not to expand where its model was not clearly needed.

What must improve

- Funding remained too limited compared with the level of work and the number of opportunities emerging.
- Too much still depended on a small number of people, especially the founder and a limited group of senior clinicians.
- Communication was still largely informal and social-media based.
- International opportunities were growing faster than organisational capacity.
- Ukraine required a more structured long-term response after the first direct field missions.
- Data collection was improving, but still needed to become more systematic, consistent and easier to audit.

2023 proved that Hands With Heart could do a great deal with very little. It also proved that the Foundation needed stronger systems to protect and sustain that impact.

LOOKING AHEAD

Future direction from the end of 2023

By the end of 2023, several directions were becoming clear. Ukraine needed further attention. Chaco had become an institutional opportunity. Adaptive surfing was becoming an increasingly important disability-inclusion pathway. Bali and Costa Rica continued to require repeated care and local capacity-building. At the same time, the Foundation needed better systems for fundraising, communication, data collection and leadership distribution.

Priority	Why it mattered after 2023
Long-term financial partners	The scale of impact was much larger than the formal income base.
Structured Ukraine response	The first direct field missions showed both the need and the complexity of war-affected care.
Stronger communication capacity	The Foundation had many powerful stories, but needed better systems to tell them clearly and consistently.
Volunteer and clinical leadership development	Growing activity required more trained leaders and less dependence on a small group.
Better data systems	Transparent annual reporting required cleaner data collection from the field.
Careful growth	Dharamsala showed that responsible expansion includes saying no when the fit is not right.

The most important support needed after 2023 was long-term financial partnership capable of giving the Foundation stability, continuity and the ability to plan. With stronger partners, HwH could protect its free-care model, invest in communication and data systems, support travel and logistics, and build more sustainable local capacity.

Opening doors creates responsibility. Keeping them open requires partners.

CONTINUITY

How 2023 connects to the years that followed

Each annual report should stand on its own, but the years also tell a larger story. Looking back, 2023 can be understood as the year of opening doors. It created new pathways and revealed the potential of the Foundation's model in more complex settings.

Year	Theme	Strategic meaning
2023	Opening Doors	New frontiers, careful growth, international visibility and the beginning of direct Ukraine field engagement.
2024	Growing Through Challenge	Expansion under pressure, stronger field rhythm, more beneficiaries and clear organisational stress points.
2025	Strengthening Foundations	More mature reporting, stronger financial base, deeper repeated care and clearer strategic direction.

This progression matters because it shows that Hands With Heart is not static. The Foundation is learning from each year: opening doors, facing the challenge of growth, and then building stronger foundations for the future.

CLOSING

Thank you for helping us open doors

To every volunteer, donor, local partner, therapist, family, student, athlete, organiser and friend who made 2023 possible: thank you.

This year was shaped by people who believed that children and adults with disabilities deserve to be seen, touched with care, treated with dignity and supported beyond the limits of geography, poverty or social exclusion.

The numbers in this report matter because they help us remain accountable. But behind every number is a person: a child in Bali, a family in Costa Rica, a patient in Chaco, an adaptive surfer in California, a war-affected person in Ukraine, a student learning how to serve with humility, or a mother hoping that someone will see her child differently.

2023 opened doors. The work ahead is to keep walking through them with responsibility.

Hands With Heart provides care where access is limited, dignity is fragile, and people with disabilities deserve to be seen.

How to support Hands With Heart

- Become a long-term financial partner.
- Support mission travel, logistics and local capacity-building.
- Help fund communication and reporting systems that make invisible realities visible.
- Collaborate through universities, clinical institutions, foundations or companies.
- Volunteer if your skills match the needs of the communities we serve.

SOURCE NOTES

Sources, assumptions and safeguards

This report has been prepared using the 2023 programme data provided by Hands With Heart, together with the official 2023 Spanish financial documents for Hands With Care / Hands With Heart: Balance Sheet, Abbreviated ESFL Annual Accounts, and Profit and Loss Account.

Programme data

- Unique beneficiaries, sessions, missions, volunteer/team numbers and local participant figures were provided through the Foundation's internal mission records and recap notes.
- Beneficiaries and sessions are reported separately to avoid inflating reach.
- Where local involvement was recorded as 53, the public capacity-building valuation uses a conservative figure of 40 participants.
- Ukraine 2023 includes a March situation-analysis visit and four clinical field missions. There was no REpower programme in 2023.
- Dharamsala is included as an exploratory assessment, not as a clinical programme in the direct value calculation.

Financial data

- Official income recorded in Spain: €41,630.56.
- Official expenses: €39,275.99, composed of €38,583.07 in external services and €692.92 in goods/materials linked to activity.
- Annual result: €2,354.57.
- Year-end treasury: €5,347.04.
- The 2023 accounts record no salaried staff, no financial debt, no loans, no real-estate assets and no significant fixed assets.

Value framework safeguards

- Estimated direct value is not cash income and should not be presented as revenue.
- Estimated direct value is a conservative valuation of free clinical care and capacity-building delivered to beneficiaries and local communities.
- Rates are blended estimates reflecting clinical complexity, access barriers and logistical context.
- The value per euro indicator compares estimated direct value against official Spanish income. It is an interpretation tool, not an audited social return calculation.
- Before publication, final designed layouts should be reviewed for numerical consistency, photo consent, captions, readability and source-note accuracy.
